

VISIT TO AIR FORCE MUSEUM

A trip to Indian Air Force Museum, New Delhi was taken by us where the students of JM International School enjoyed the day.

The idea behind such an activity is not just giving our children a unique and enriching experience but also making them aware about the importance of the Air Force in the Indian Army.

The museum consists of a war memorial, three galleries, an aircraft hangar and an aircraft dispersal in the open. At the entrance a GNAT fighter and a laser-guided missile was placed to welcome visitors.

In Gallery I, many beautiful models, a globe with the Indian Flag and a golden capsule were kept. It consisted of photographs of World War II. Pictures of soldiers and leaders adorned the walls of the museum. The weapons on the board made history more lively. There was a big hall which had big aircrafts and planes.

Gallery II and III consisted of paintings and things that had been used by Indian pilots to locate the enemy. Many instruments like ground cameras and air cameras were preserved.

This was a small and successful effort on our behalf to depict a phase of our proud Indian Air Force.
