

A WORD TO ADMISSION SEEKERS

JMIS is no run of the mill school. Aiming at nurturing the overall excellence in children, it has carved a niche for its transformational pedagogy and international practices. Instead of just collecting the form, the new parents are advised to personally come and meet the admission counselor to acquire an in-depth understanding about the unique curriculum and experiential teaching methods of J M International School.

The campus language and the medium of teaching- learning transaction being strictly English, the admission seeking students for grades III onwards are expected to be fluent speakers, readers and writers of English language. However, the admission seekers for grades Pallav (Kindergarten), I and II are expected to be the habitual users of English language in terms of verbal comprehension and basic communication.

As the school does not promote rote-learning and instead focuses on conceptual understanding and thinking skills, the prospective students are expected to be attuned to logical and independent thinking.
